The Hawk's Shrowdness.

A very common practice among the hawks of this country is to fol low close in the track of a railroad train, flying low down near the ground. The small birds along the line, startled by the roar of the cars, fly up in clouds, and the hawk takes his pick of the fattest of the lot. The little birds are so alarmed by the noise of the train that they do not see the hawk, and before they can get away he has replenished his larder. The fact has often been ob served by persons living along the lines of railroads, and is a singular illustration of the faculty of adaptation possessed by animals that are forced to hve by their wits.—Exchange.

Wealthy Indians.

The Cœur d'Alenes are the wealthiest Indian tribe in the northwest. Many of the Indians have from $1. 000 to $5,000 on deposit in the local banks, with the local merchants or in Spokane. They all own good farms, most of which are fenced and being rapidly placed in cultivation. They have good houses, and many are setting out nice orchards, which will be bearing fruit in a few years They are very careful with their money, buying but few things they do not need and paying cash for each article as it is purchased, thus allow-ing no chance for cheating in figuring up a bill. They understand making change, but cannot compute fig ures. Many of them, especially the children, can read and write, and the latter can be heard reading the signs aloud as they walk along the streets -Portland Oregonian.

Great Heads and Little Wit. Great men are usually said to have great memories, but it does not follow that all who have great memories are great men. I remember an idiot in Ohio who was a great curiosity many years ago. He knew the whole Bible by heart from beginning to end, and if any verse was read or repeated to him he could tell exactly in what book and chapter it was to be found and its verse number in the chapter. He was considered a great marvel in this particular, but in ev ery other he was a mental imbecile and could not be trusted even to feed himself. -St. Louis Globe Democrat.

The Chicago Postoffice. The cost of the Chicago postoffice is one-third of its revenue. Chicagoans not only pay for their own postal facilities, but pay three-fifths of the deficit in the postoffice department on the entire mail service. Kate Field's Washington.
